Coventry PEACE, Inc. (CPC) is an independent, nonprofit, 501 (c)3 organization whose mission is to create a vibrant arts and culture center in Cleveland Heights by providing community-serving nonprofits with affordable office and programming space and enabling collaborations that benefit the community. Current tenants of CPC are ARTFUL, Lake Erie Ink, FutureHeights, Reaching Heights, Cleveland Heights Teachers Union, Building Bridges Arts Collaborative, Cleveland Arts Prize-winning artist Robin VanLear, Singers' Club of Cleveland, and Grace Communion Cleveland. Coventry PEACE, Inc. was founded by community residents in the 1990s to build and maintain the PEACE Playground, and in 2017 its mission was refocused to the Coventry P.E.A.C.E. Campus building in order to pursue the vision of an integrated campus where everyone can "create, show, learn and grow."
